

UX-designer with multidisciplinary design skills

We're looking for a motivated, skilled and passionate UX-designer with multidisciplinary design skills who wants to join our team at Greater Than.

This position plays a key role in a fast-paced and agile environment where one day is not like the other. We have many design projects in the air and in your role, you'll contribute to every UX aspect of the product creation process tailored for a global market. You'll utilize and grow your design and UX skills in a collaboration with other smart folks on the evolution of our digital properties and solutions. You will work side by side with our designer/Art Director to lead and participate in the work of designing concepts for our apps, clients and websites, developing ads for digital marketing and social media, producing content for our channels and creating new app features.

What we are looking for;

It would be music to our ears if you have;

- A glowing portfolio
- Relevant education within design
- Know how to balance user experience with business goals
- Fluid workflow in InDesign, Photoshop and Illustrator
- Experience designing and prototyping in Adobe XD (or Sketch)
- Knowledge of UX design principles for app and web
- Ease to producing quick wireframes and sketches
- An open mind towards doing other design tasks when needed

We'd also love if you -

- Can introduce other prototyping tools for the team, such as InVision, Zeplin, or Axure
- Wants to implement UX-structures in a changing agile environment
- Have experience of working closely with developers
- Have experience of working with games, gamification and app development
- Have experience working with HTML/CSS or Wordpress

Your background

We are looking for you who want to contribute to our team with your glowing personality! We think you have 2-5 years of experience within UX-design. In order to succeed in this role, you are confident in your skills and highly structured with the ability to plan your work to deliver on deadlines. You are a team-player but also keen on self-improvement and have the ability to see details without losing the bigger picture. As a person you are positive, flexible, open minded and result oriented and have an excellent ability to communicate with people. At the same time, you work independently and making your own decisions drives you. You are able to juggle a multitude of tasks - some with very short notice.

What we offer

Working at Greater Than means working in company with a global approach, defined by a great team, meaningful work and quick growth. Greater Than has offices in London, Singapore and Stockholm, and this position will be based at our HQ at Karlavägen in Stockholm. As an employer we demand a lot of our people, but we also empower them to live up to their challenges, to have an entrepreneurial spirit and embrace challenges with confidence. Apart from being a part of a creative team we offer a set of perks, like health care contribution and self-development initiatives that will sharpen your skills by external courses. Sound interesting? Great. Go ahead and apply. We look forward to getting to know you. Apply at nyttjobb@greaterthan.eu no later than 31/3. Interviews are ongoing. Should you have questions about the position or the recruitment process, please contact Jimmy Palmqvist, Head of Sales & Marketing.
